ELEVEN WERE ONLY

PARTIALLY GUILTY

NOT GUILTY BUT PAY COSTS A POPULAR FINDING.

This Verdict, Which So Many Deem Incongruous Was Rendered in Criminal Court Yesterday with Remarkable Frequency—Peckville Boy Thieves Admit Their Guilt.

Constable Joseph F. Woelkers Only Partially Assaulted Joseph Mikus. Interesting Counter-Prosecution.

"Not guilty, but pay the costs" was a popular finding with yesterday's jury in quarter sessions court. Eleven defendants had this as their portion.

The first to hear a jury this declare he was and wasn't guilty was Morris Hollander, the Old Forge merchant, tried the previous day for embezzling money entrusted to him by Wasi Peconiak to be sent to the latter's sister in Hungary.

Some time after the arrest the money was forwarded and Hollander claimed before the jury that he sent it but it went astray. The jury believed this to a certain extent.

The three defendants in the case growing out of Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul hotel case at Prieberg were each found not very guilty. August Krushanks and Joseph Senoski pay the costs in the assault and battery case and John Krushanks settles for the expense of the case in which he is charged with selling liquor on Sunday.

Seven Lloyd street men who were accused of assault and battery on a neighbor, Peter Bushel, are others declared not guilty. They are Stanley Newcoski, Anthony Simmons, Andrew Gienzi, Martin Grabowski, Joe Lagusky and John Pennett.

The testimony as adduced before Judge McClure showed that all hands were drunk and that Bushel received his beating during a free fight.

CASE AGAINST WOELKERS

The eleventh case was that in which Constable Joseph F. Woelkers was charged with assault and battery upon Joseph Mikus. The jury said not guilty and divided the costs.

Mr. Mikus is a prominent South Side merchant and among his customers was a family named Wolfe who are related to Woelkers. The Wolfe sent for Mr. Mikus to have him explain some items in a bill for groceries which he had rendered.

A dispute arose and while it was on Constable Woelkers and his brother-in-law, Mr. Wagner arrived. Mrs. Wolfe told Woelkers that Mikus had said something reflecting on the family as a whole and Woelkers proceeded to resent it.

The story of the prosecution is that Woelkers sprang at Mikus and without the slightest provocation drew his club and hit the merchant over the head, inflicting an ugly scalp wound.

The defense tells it altogether differently. Mikus, according to Woelkers' story, made an attempt to strike him and missing his blow swung around with the momentum and fell down the steps leading to the porch. When he regained his feet he attempted to strike Woelkers but was prevented by Wagner, who shoved him away and caused him to bump his head against the side of the building.

Mr. Woelkers was corroborated in this by Wagner and the Wolfes, Geo. Stark and P. Hoban were attorneys for the prosecution and John F. Seragg for the defense.

The gang of boy burglars rounded up at Peckville by County Detective Leyschon plead guilty of all the charges preferred against them when arraigned before Judge McClure yesterday morning.

THE TEN BOYS. The boys are ten in number and their ages range from 12 to 17 years. William Marks, the leader of the gang, was charged particularly with entering W. B. Bloss' drug store and stealing a gun valued at $25. He gained entrance by breaking through a plate glass window in the front of the store at 5 o'clock in the morning. The window was valued at $45.

George Seely, Martin Sibatski and David Vaughn took two pocketbooks from the Wilson House company's house, Burgess S. R. Williams was the prosecutor in this case.

Eugene Seely, Ray Seely, John Ustiek, William Coleman, Joe Mox and William Mox, other members of the gang, together with George Seely, David Vaughn and Martin Sibatski robbed Morgan's store by climbing over the tramway. They will be called for sentence Saturday.

Judge Archibald heard an interesting case of counter-prosecution hailing from Throop. John Yuba, a saloonkeeper, accused George Hohmann, a much respected citizen of the borough, with the larceny of $10, and Hohmann charged Yuba with carrying concealed weapons.

Yuba says Hohmann asked him to change a ten-dollar bill and that he placed the change on the bar Hohmann pocketed it together with the ten-dollar bill. This was done, he said, yesterday.

It did not occur to him that he had forgotten to get the bill until some one called his attention to it after Hohmann's departure. He followed Hohmann and demanded the $10 but the latter refused to give it up.

Mr. Rafter states that he derived safely on the transport Indiana and says that what he has already seen of the Philippines is so grand and inviting that it is simply indescribable.

The heat is something terrific there, but the nights are delightfully cool. The soldiers were well fed all through the journey, receiving plenty of bread, meat and vegetables. Yobs did not take both the bill and the change but left the former on the bar, and that Yobs took it and put it away. When Yobs came to Hohmann's house to demand the $10 he brought along a pistol and pointed it at both Hohmann and his wife, during the dispute that ensued.

The jury found Yobs guilty and Judge Archibald sentenced him to pay $10 and the costs. Hohmann was turned not guilty, and the costs were placed on the county. Attorney Ralph L. Levy appeared for Yobs, and Attorney M. F. Conry for Hohmann.

A jury was out at adjournment on the case of Anthony Hance, Albert Mayfeskie, John Manyaske and Frank Domenski charged with assault and battery on Peter Grimboaki.

The prosecutor claimed he was waylaid and beaten by the defendants and that he had challenged to do this very thing. The defense was that it was a free fight. The affair occurred at Greenwood, June 17, 1899, at the close of a picnic.

Attorney W. R. Lewis and Assistant District Attorney Thomas conducted the prosecution and the defense was looked after by Attorneys A. A. Vosburg and C. E. Oliver.

The case in which Joe Fitzpatrick, the Pine Brook lad so frequently accused of thieving, is charged with grabbing Mrs. Clarence Valentine's purse in the city, was called by Judge McClure in the afternoon but owing to the illness of Superintendent Louis G. Schantz the case was put over till today.

VERDICT OF NOT GUILTY.

A verdict of not guilty was taken in the case of John Labotsky of Throop charged by Joe Kipinski with larceny by bailie, a settlement having been effected between Kipinski and Labotsky $50 to insure him as his houseman in a criminal assault case for which he was arrested last year. When the case was concluded Labotsky refused to return the money and he was arrested on the charge of larceny by bailie.

Since the arrest the case has been in the hands of the court and the prosecution was withdrawn.

Attorneys M. P. Cawley and M. F. Conry appeared for the plaintiff and Hon. John P. Kelly for the defense.

Gillespie Seeks New Trial.

On petition of Attorneys Taylor and Lewis court yesterday granted a rule for a new trial in the case of the commonwealth against Anthony F. Gillespie, the Oliphant councilman convicted last week of perjury.

Most of the reasons for the new trial are alleged errors on the part of the trial judge in his charge to the jury. It is contended court erred in stating to the jury that Mr. O'Malley, counsel for the defendant in the civil proceedings stated that they (the defendants) and others mentioned in the case had an association agreement; were partners; in charging that the defendant was not advised in regard to the affidavit of perjury upon which a conviction of perjury was had in above case; in not finding that the verdict of a jury is not a final judgment; in declaring that Judge Knapp had stated that the defendant had sworn to the affidavit upon which the charge of perjury is founded; in not charging that an oath made under advice of counsel can not be withdrawn and corrupt perjury is charged that where the only evidence of perjury is founded on the testimony of an officer, before whom an oath is taken, the only knowledge of such oath in such witness is his signature as such officer and his seal in attestation thereof, is insufficient to locate him as a witness for perjury; in charging that when a person swears in a careless or reckless manner such swearing amounts to willful and corrupt perjury.

Other reasons were that the verdict was against the weight of the evidence and that the conviction was founded on the testimony of one witness on an affidavit in a civil proceedings not prosecuted to a final judgment.

The rule was made returnable at the next term of argument court.

Wants to Be Chartered.

Attorney George B. Davidson yesterday applied for a charter for the Ira Tripp Hose company, the subscribing petitioners are Patrick M. Andrew, Frank Goodrich, Friend Green, William Farr, James Murphy, Robert E. Penton and Patrick Reap. The trustees are William Farr, Patrick Reap and Frank Goodrich.

LIVE NEWS OF THE INDUSTRIAL WORLD

PLAN TO SECURE MORE ROOM FOR MAKING UP TRAINS.

D. L. & W. Company is Utilizing the Switches Along the Bloomsburg Tracks Between Scranton Street and Luzerne Street to Relieve the Congested Condition of the Yard—Way Coal Is Now Shipped from the Keyser Valley Mines—About Tin Plate Plant.

The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad company has a plan in view whereby the side tracks on the Bloomsburg division extending from the Scranton street crossing to the Luzerne street culvert will be utilized for making up trains, which will relieve the congested condition of the Lackawanna yards.

It is proposed to work into service all the empty cars which have been sidetracked at that point for so many years, and use them in supplying the demands for coal which is continually increasing. At present the trains for the northern and southern division are made up in the yard opposite the main passenger station, but under the new system all cars scheduled for either the Bloomsburg, New York or Buffalo divisions will be transferred on the west side Y.

The erection of the transfer freight station west of the stone bridge, will also facilitate the work in the way of relieving the crowded condition of the main freight depot. The building is nearing completion and it is expected that the transfer freight can be handled at that point by the first of November.

Another plan in operation, which has proven advantageous to rapid transit is the transfer of loaded cars of coal from the collieries in the Keyser Valley district to the northern division by way of the junction at the Notch. Instead of hauling the loaded trips into the main yard the cars are run up to the junction on the Keyser Valley branch and shipped through to the western market without being transferred by way of the central city. Coal from down the valley is transferred by the Hudson switch to the Keyser Valley branch and does not have to pass through the yards here.

The increased demand for coal has made necessary many changes in the haulage system and today several hundred cars more of coal are being shipped daily than was the case under the old regime. The new officials realize the old facilities at hand will enable them to compete with the other companies, both as regards freight and passenger traffic, and that they can supply anthracite coal as cheap as any of the competing companies, and they are making a strong bid for the business.

The increase in the passenger traffic and freight business over the Lackawanna system is sufficient evidence that their efforts along that line are meeting with success. The conference of officials tomorrow relative to a new time schedule and a possible increase in the number of trains will undoubtedly prove of much importance to patrons of the road.

Tin Plate Industry.

The manufacturers' committee of the Scranton board of trade were introduced to L. K. Torbet, of Chicago, yesterday afternoon and were enlightened by him as to the tin plate industry which is now being located here.

The plan and scope of the concern was outlined, but nothing definite was decided upon. In all probability it will be necessary to have a practical mechanic now in Chicago come on here to check up on the intricacies of the business before any definite action will be taken by the board.
